Wisconsin is Latest State to Implement Innovative Tool to Streamline Medical Licensure Process

More than 52,000 physicians have used the Uniform Application for Physician State Licensure

(Euless, Texas, April 3, 2015) – The Uniform Application for Physician State Licensure (UA) initiative continues to gain significant traction across the United States as an innovative tool to streamline the medical licensure process. An initiative of the Federation of State Medical Boards (FSMB), the UA makes it easier for physicians to become licensed in multiple states by providing a “core” application used by medical boards using the UA, eliminating the need for physicians to re-enter data multiple times.

With the recent addition of the Wisconsin Medical Examining Board, 23 state medical and osteopathic boards now use the tool and several other states are in various stages of implementation. More than 52,000 physician applications have been submitted through the UA system since it was launched several years ago.

Among the benefits the UA offers physicians:

- Auto-populates key data, saving physicians time by eliminating the need to re-enter information multiple times.
- Information provided by physicians is stored in a permanent data repository, which is available to physicians when they apply for licensure in another of the growing number of states using the UA.
- Auto-populates credentialing data for users of the Federation Credentials Verification Service (FCVS).
- The service includes physicians in residency training programs as well as those established in practice.
